

Hardwood Worktops

Terry Wilson offer one of the most comprehensive ranges of made-to-measure and off the shelf hardwood worktops for domestic and commercial use.

Our projects range from one-off kitchens to major developments requiring several hundred items, all of which can be manufactured to order.

Our complete range of fabrication services allows us to machine worktops to intricate designs incorporating sink and hob cut-outs, circular tables, elaborate curves and many other features including breakfronts and special profiles.

We recommend that all of our wooden worktops are installed by a professional wooden worktop specialist. It is normal for all wooden worktops to expand and contract depending on seasonal changes in humidity. It is therefore important that an adequate expansion gap is left around the edge of all walls and any other firm building elements - upstands should be used to cover the expansion gap.
